Artistic work as search for talents

“Artistic work is abandoning patterns, going beyond what is obvious and learning from our mistakes. Talent must be found and polished up.” We run artistic groups searching different talents among children. Preliminary activities in groups last one year. During this time we practice fluency, flexibility and originality of thinking, and apart from this we observe specific abilities of children. Then, we create groups of participants with similar talents and organise artistic work concentrated on development. Up to now we have run groups such as: language abilities – “English Teaching”; literary – writing a book by different age groups with the central theme ‘A man with a paper bag on his head is going, why did he put it on?’, painting, film, historical. We also took part in competitions Mind Odyseja and we organised an Artistic Festival.
